

AESTHETIC AND COSMETIC DERMATOLOGY (LASERS SEPARATE CATEGORY)

TOP TIPS ON HOW TO MANAGE PROBLEMATIC COSMETIC PATIENTS

Henry Chan⁽¹⁾

University of Hong Kong, Medicine, Hong Kong, Hong Kong⁽¹⁾

Unlike medical cases whereby patients and their relative may be more forgiving for any complication arise from treatment, cosmetic patients are more demanding and therefore, appropriate selections are of particular important. Learn to say no can be a difficult act to do. Un-realistic expectation, lack of reflection before treatment and patients with body dysmorphic syndrome are examples that one should look for before cosmetic treatment. Management of complication is also important in the management of problematic cosmetic patients.

